

Renaissance Presentation

INFORMATION & PRESENTATION

- ___ You include an interesting opening that grabs our attention
- ___ Your information is concise and fascinating-- it helps us understand more about the times & the topic
- ___ You do something creative to get your audience involved in the material
- ___ Your visuals help us to understand more about your words
- ___ You leave time for and solicit questions from your audience
- ___ You hand in an MLA works cited page and your presentation plan or notes after you speak
- ___ You post your slides with MLA works cited to the website

SPEAKING

- ___ Your movements & gestures are not distracting
- ___ Your volume and tone keep us interested and show you are interested and informed
- ___ You don't look at your visual, you look at your audience with appropriate eye contact
- ___ You talk to us, instead of just reading your keynote or visuals
